It is appalling to see how Microsoft has been singled out with all the anti-trust suits when that company has done so much for the computer industry.

I have been using a computer since 1987 and can remember how difficult it was to use a computer and download every morning the DOS and etc. After Microsoft came along with Windows, I was so relieved and enjoyed computer use. It was so useful.

Our American has always recognized the leaders of our industry in whatever category they excelled. Please don't cripple this nation's innovative technology and make them humbled to the weakest link in the chain. We need leaders, not sniveling whiners who want the government to protect them from advancement of the technology.

Let up on Microsoft. It has been a shame how ignorance has prevailed.
